Teacher of the Year

Each year we are provided with the opportunity to select one teacher to represent our school as "Teacher/Educator of the Year." Last year, Walls School was honored to be represented by Mrs. Costas and Mrs. Arnold. As you might imagine this is not an easy task, and that is why we need your help. For the next five weeks we will be collecting nominations from teachers, students and parents to identify this year's top candidates. Among the criteria that we will consider are the following: excellence in teaching, upholds the standards of the district, gives freely of their own time to work with students and exhibits consistency in the classroom over time.

If you have a teacher in mind that you would like to nominate, I would ask you to put that nomination in writing (you can use the attached form, or just write a letter), and return it to me electronically cmorris@pitman.k12.nj.us or addressed to Mr. Morris, in the main office. We need all nominations on or before December 14, 2018.

Other Notes

American Education Week- November 13-16

While many of you will be in for conferences with teachers, please know that you are also welcome to come in to observe a lesson. We are always very excited to welcome parents to see all of the wonderful things that happen each day at Walls School! Please contact your child's teacher in advance regarding your visit, to avoid any scheduling conflicts. Also, please leave younger children at home, as they can serve as a distraction in the classroom. As always, visitors should sign in at the office. We look forward to seeing many of you during American Education Week.
